Handsome Dinner Gowns—New Material—Mingling of Lace Modish.
Spangled black net made over a white foundation makes up many of the handsomest dinner gowns this season.

Zamama cloth is a new material that is exceedingly attractive. It comes in white and colors and has a crinkly surface with a fleece back. It is used for lounging robes and dressing sacks.

and for lining evening coats of broad-cloth. For the latter purpose it will be found most luxurious, and an interlining can be dispensed with. The price is $2.75 a yard, and it is forty-six inches wide, and some of the paler shades, such as pink, mauve and blue, are perfectly fascinating.

Combination effects continue modish in lace, and the use of soutache introduces a touch of novelty.

Hand embroidered flounces of linen are set upon yokes of silk that fit the hips perfectly, so that one gets durability without making one's figure bulky.

Every mother enjoys making the tiny little garments for baby, and the pattern seen in the illustration will be a wonderful assistance to her. Fine sheer materials are invariably chosen for these slips, and it is in better taste to select narrow laces and embroidered lines of fine design in preference to the wider varieties of medium quality.

Costume Ideas For the Spring Girl. The Newest Hatpins.

The spring girl will wear tulle and violets at her throat, and vastly becoming is the new neckware to her. There are delicate pink tulle bows that fasten under the chin to give a most becoming setting to the face, and there are tulle bows of creamy tulle that are caught with an enameled violet. A spring gown of gray, with tulle flappings at the throat, with violets upon the corsage and violets repeated on

The hat and gloves, offers an attractive picture to the woman who is considering something new in dress.

The newest hatpins just arrived from Paris have round heads two inches in diameter. The center of the circle is an imitation of some precious stone—turquoise matrix, malachite, jade and amethyst—and around the enormous jewel is a border of silver gold filigree.

Long insertions of lace extending from the bust line to the bottom of the frock, narrowing slightly at the waist and spreading out several inches at the bottom of the skirt, are a favorite trimming and give long graceful lines to the figure.

Shirt waists with removable chemisettes are always favored, and a very pretty model of this type is here shown. For dressy and general wear the design is equally adaptable, the material and trimming being always chosen with this thought in mind. Plaid, silk, woolen and cotton goods are especially suited to this style of waist, and the chemisette will invariably be of some of the fashionable turn-overs.

VANITY'S VISIONS.

Linen in High Favor For Summer Frocks—Flowered Stuffs.

That linens will be in high favor is evidenced by the enormous quantities that have been provided for the retail trade. In plain colored linen green is a favorite. The striped linens are nothing less swaggy, and for smartly cut skirt and coat suits they will be in great demand. The stripes are really hair lines marking off a plain colored ground into even spaces, like the popular hair line striped wool suitings of the winter.

Flowered stuffs are coming to the fore as dress materials, and the afternoon dresses are made of pale dimities with flowers outlined in them and of silk mulls with big wavy figures running through the background.

Some of the newest of the fresh, frilly jabots have just a suspicion of color to match the tailor suit. Sometimes it is a few buttons down the center, again it is a hem or narrow binding in color.

The walking skirt illustrated provides for both round and ankle lengths, as preferred. Seven gores are used in its construction, and a single plait is taken up at each seam. There are numerous ways of trimming if a person cares for it, folds of silk or the material or wide braid being the most fashionable form at present.

Mrs. Thos. Stenton, postmaster of Pontypool, Ont., writes: "For the past eight years I suffered from rheumatic pains, and during that time I used many different liniments and remedies for the cure of rheumatism. Last summer I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and got more relief from it than anything I have ever used, and cheerfully recommend this liniment to all sufferers from rheumatic pains."
